Help Dayton Tornado Survivors & Stay Safe When Severe Weather Threatens

In the wake of the tornadoes that impacted the state overnight, if you are interested in helping support the response and recovery effort, please consider donating to a trusted organization. A financial contribution is the most effective way to help ensure a steady flow of important services is available to those in need, as cash is flexible enough to meet the rapidly developing needs of disaster relief. For a list of trustworthy organizations such as the American Red Cross (www.redcross.org) that help with disaster response and recovery, please visit the National Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster Website at: <https://www.nvoad.org/voad-members/national-members/>.

Keep yourself and your family safe when severe weather threatens. Always remember to have multiple ways to get severe weather information and emergency alerts. Hamilton County Emergency Management & Homeland Security Agency (EMHSA) encourages the public to have a NOAA weather radio at home and at work and to sign up for Alert Hamilton County to receive FREE opt-in emergency notifications. To sign up for this life-saving system, visit: www.alerthc.org.
