Description:

Traditionally taught separately, these two programs are now merged into one workshop, guiding students through the use of the communication tool WebEOC, as well as the critical infrastructure identification and mapping program, RAVEN911. RAVEN911 & WebEOC are tools used regularly in EOC activations & in communication/coordination with various stakeholders in order to maintain a common operating picture.

Due to the current public health concerns, this course will be held virtually over Zoom through July. Pre-registration is required. Should guidance on in-person events remain in place beyond July, the in-person course offerings will transition to a virtual format and all students will be notified.
